HOPKINSVILLE CIRCUIT COURT

Night Rider Cases Docketed for This Term.

COMMONWEALTH PART OF TERM WILL BE A BUSY ONE.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 6.—Circuit court opened Monday morning for a four weeks' term, which will probably be extended to eight weeks, Judge Hanbery having intimated that he would call an extra session of four weeks to follow the regular term, in order to clear the congested docket as much as possible. The docket for the term numbers over 500 cases, of which 102 are appearances. The divorce docket is exceptionally heavy.

The commonwealth docket for the term shows a number of important cases listed, which, if trials are held, will make the term one of the most interesting ever held here. Among those cases are the following:

The so called night rider cases in which Dr. D. A. Amos, Newton Nichols, John Robinson, Guy Deaning, H. Malone, alias J. B. Malone, and Irvin Glass are under indictment for complicity in the raid on this city on the morning of Dec. 7, 1907, are set for hearing on the fourth day of the term. H. B. DeTreville and J. B. Galbreath, former president, and secretary and treasurer of the Acme Mills and Elevator company, who were recently indicted for embezzlement in connection with the mill's affairs will answer on fifth day. Arthur Wilson, colored, charged with rape on the person of a white woman, will answer on the third day. Wilson has had one trial and was sentenced to death but the case was reversed by the court of appeals. E. C. Outlaw, who shot and killed W. W. Littlefield, as the result of business troubles, is under indictment for murder and his case is set for the seventh day. Otto Armstrong, also charged with murder, is set for the ninth day. Several other cases of more than ordinary gravity are sandwiched in between these and the commonwealth part of the term will be a busy one.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

John Kelly Run Over By L. & N. Engine Near Hopkinsville

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 5.—John Kelly, aged 23 years, was run over by a freight train on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at 2 o'clock. Kelly was employed in a construction camp near here and had spent the night in town. On his way back to camp he sat on the side of the track, it is supposed, and had fallen asleep, when the locomotive struck him. His home was at South Bend, Ind., where the remains will be shipped for burial.

New Officer for U. O. G. C.

A very interesting meeting was held by the commandery last Saturday night, it being a regular stated meeting. Mrs. Minnie E. Long tendered her resignation as W. K. of R. and Mrs. Bertha Umstead was elected and installed to fill the unexpired term. Mrs. Long has been a very efficient officer and the members are very sorry to lose her. Mrs. Umstead will make an excellent officer. This order is growing fast and new members are being initiated every meeting night.

WILD VARMINT DESTROYS STOCK

Panther-Like Creature Has Neighborhood Terrorized—Shots Do Not Affect It.

Providence, Ky., June 3.—Uninjured by the hundreds of shots which have been fired at it during the past week, a strange "varmint" which has taken up its abode in the vicinity of the Ruckman's mines is creating much excitement in the neighborhood. Children are not allowed out after dark and men go armed. Two calves and half a dozen sheep have been found mangled in the fields.

The animal is described as being about a foot and one-half tall and three feet long, and resembles a panther. Persons who have seen it declare that the beast has fiery eyes which can be seen in the darkness for a distance and that whenever approached it shows no tendency to flee, but is aggressive and advances upon the enemy with a determination which strikes terror into the heart of the bravest.

Recently the "varmint" was seen by a number of men while passing the mines. Its eyes, like two coals of fire, penetrated the darkness and held them fascinated as the unknown animal approached. The men stopped, as they believed that the beast would hesitate from advancing within shooting range, but they were mistaken, for the balls of fire increased in size and brightness and the strange animal showed no sign of fear as it came step by step nearer.

When within a few yards from where they were standing several of the men opened fire upon the creature, but it paid no heed to the shower of bullets fired at it. The men turned and ran, but were unable to say whether or not they were followed.

Plans are being made to organize a searching party and go in hunt of the mysterious animal.

The men in the party will arm themselves heavily and will carry sufficient ammunition to fill the hide of the beast until it is unable to walk if they are unable to kill it outright.

Murderer of Alma Kellner Is Described.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—Col. H. Watson Lindsey, chief of the Louisville police, today gave out a copy of the description of Joseph Wendling, the janitor of St. John's church, wanted here on the charge of murdering little Alma Kellner. Wendling is described as follows:

Age 27; five feet, 10 or 11 in.; weight about 140 pounds; blue eyes; rather squinting; full protruding nose, heavy black eyebrows; black hair; black moustache, inclined to curl; narrow stooped shoulders; swarthy complexion; rosy cheeks. Is a Frenchman, sometimes taken for Hungarian or Italian; speaks decided French accent; usually stands very erect, with one foot extended, walks with long strides; blue tattoo on one forearm; has gunshot wound in left hand (not positive about this being left hand).

"Wendling left here Jan. 14, 1910, wearing a light checked coat; cheap clothes; pointed shoes; light alpaca hat, and wore cheap pine-flute design with mother of pearls, on lapels of the coat. Our information is that he was born in Genis, Cote d'Or, France, and that he is a deserter from the French army. Since he has been in this country he has worked as a common laborer; is drinking man and fond of women. "Wendling has been arrested for attention to young girls in Louisville."

RUFUS GATLIN KILLED AT VICTORIA MINES

Was Caught by a Loaded Trip and Thrown Beneath the Cars.

Friday morning, about 9 o'clock, Rufus Gatlin, an employee at the Victoria mines, near Madisonville, was caught by a loaded trip and thrown beneath the cars, crushing his limbs and hurting him internally. He was brought to the top and the doctors sent for, but nothing could be done to save his life. He died about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The stables where he was employed are in the mines. It was seen from the first that he could not live.

Mr. Gatlin has been an employee of the mines several years and was a valuable, trusted employee. He was about 33 years old and leaves a wife and two children. His remains were buried at Grapevine cemetery Saturday afternoon, followed by a large crowd of friends and relatives of the deceased. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful.

EXAMINING TRIAL.

Mrs. Zorah J. Eblin Will Be Arraigned Next Monday.

Henderson, Ky., June 3.—The examining trial of Mrs. Zorah J. Eblin, charged with the murder of her husband, Bain W. Eblin, will, according to the statements of her attorney, Judge John T. Dorsey, and Physician Foreword, be held on Monday next. The latter says that the main witness, Mattie White, colored, will be able to come in to court on that date and testify, and the defendant's attorney says that the trial will be held as soon as this woman is able to appear, and that his client will not waive a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Eblin waived her right to qualify as guardian of her three children, and on her motion the Union Bank and Trust Company was appointed in such capacity.

BABOON NEARLY KILLS TRAINER

Morganfield Man Drinks Acid, Then Shoots Himself.

Morganfield, Ky., June 5.—Lewis R. Richards was found dead in his storeroom, on Main street, this morning at 8 o'clock. He drank carbolic acid and then shot himself through the temple, but it is not known at what hour the deed was committed. He ate breakfast at home and then went to John Crom's drug store, where he bought the carbolic acid, asking the clerk to label the bottle. As he left the store he joked with the firm's employees about their soda fountain not being in keeping with the other fine ones in town, and left the store in an apparently pleasant frame of mind.

Mr. Richards is survived by his wife, nee Margaret Cromwell, and two children, Mary and William, and three brothers, Dr. William A. Thomas and Aaron. Mr. Richards has been in the mercantile business in this city since a very young man. He was an elder in the Presbyterian church.

For some months he has been despondent about his health, having suffered greatly with insomnia, but other than this no reason can be assigned for his act.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Gets a Marriage License.

New York, June 4.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., accompanied by his fiancée, Miss Edith Butler Alexander, applied today at the City Hall for a license to wed on June 20.

Young Roosevelt said he was twenty-two years old, a manufacturer, and resided at Oyster Bay. Miss Alexander said she was twenty-one and lived in this city.

SITE CHOSEN FOR STATUE

Of Gen. Morgan Was Selected by His Comrades.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS

Lexington, Ky., June 4.—At a meeting here of John Morgan Monument Committee of the Confederacy, the location of the equestrian statue of Gen. John H. Morgan was decided on and the sculptor, Pompeo Coppini, was instructed to proceed at once to cast the statue and arrange for erecting it on the spot selected in this city.

After carefully considering the two sites offered for the monument, it was decided to select the one in front of the court house instead of the location in front of the Carnegie Public Library, on Second street, which had at one time been favored. One reason for this decision was the fact that Morgan's men at their annual reunion at Parke's Hill, last August, recommended that the court house site be chosen.

The statue will be located directly in front of the court house, just off the sidewalk, on the concrete walk leading from the main entrance of the court house to Main street. This position was offered the committee and after its acceptance by the committee a resolution was passed, thanking them for it.

The money made by the U. D. C. at the moving picture show Saturday night, June 18, will go to help this movement. So come out and assist these ladies.

MAKES SURE OF DEATH

CHARGED WITH COMPLICITY IN HOPKINSVILLE RAID

Christian County Farmer Placed Under Arrest—Oliver's Condition Is Unsatisfactory

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 3.—Lieutenant Colonel E. B. Bassett arrived in the city this afternoon having in custody a Caldwell county farmer, whom he arrested as B. Malone, otherwise J. B. Malone, indicted by the last Christian county grand jury for alleged complicity in night rider raids on Hopkinsville December 7, 1906.

The prisoner says his name is William H. Malone and he denies any connection with the raid.

Col. Bassett will return tomorrow to Lamasco, where he is in charge of soldiers who are guarding the residence of Milton Oliver, on whom an attempt at assassination was recently made. Oliver was wounded by a lead of buckshot. His condition is not as satisfactory as at first and is causing much uneasiness.

He is one of the principal witnesses for the State in the night rider case set for the term of the Circuit Court which begins next Monday.

TROUBLE IN ILLINOIS MINES

Disorder Reported When Pit Bosses Are Put to Work.

Chicago, June 5.—According to reports received here tonight there was trouble at some of the coal mines of Illinois today as the result of calling out of pump men and engine men. At some places mine managers, pit bosses and other workmen employed by the Illinois Operators' association to keep the engines working were chased from their posts.

O. L. Garrison, president of one company, said tonight that he will apply for an injunction against the striking miners tomorrow.

CAPT. FRANK D. RASH PROMOTED MAJOR

A. G. Chapman Has Been Made Adjutant and Capt. Tandy Commissary Officer.

Frank D. Rash, who has been captain and regimental adjutant of the Third regiment, Kentucky State Guard, has been promoted to major and substance officer on Brigadier General Roger Williams' staff. Major Rash is a careful, efficient, painstaking officer and his service in the Third has been one line of promotion. A. G. Chapman has been made adjutant and Capt. Tandy commissary officer.

That Major Rash will be missed goes without saying, for he has worked hard to make the regiment the best in the State. He will be with the boys on their annual encampment as major in charge of the commissary.

COCAINE INJECTION FATAL.

Physicians Puzzled by Death of Hopkinsville Man.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 5.—John Kennedy, aged twenty-two, died in a physician's office here this afternoon following a minor surgical operation, in which cocaine had been used as a local anesthetic.

A comparatively small amount of cocaine was used and no danger was apprehended. After the patient began to show signs of collapse, physicians worked five hours with him, but could not save his life.

Physicians stated tonight that Kennedy's symptoms at all times were directly opposite to those usually resulting from cocaine poisoning, and the case is a mystery to them.

Prof. C. E. Dudley Goes To Earlinton.

The Pembroke Journal has the following to say of Prof. C. E. Dudley, the new principal of the Earlinton Public Graded School: Prof. C. E. Dudley, who has been principal of the Pembroke Graded School since its establishment ten years ago, has resigned his position to accept the principalship of the public school at Earlinton. Prof. Dudley will move his family to Earlinton about September 1. During his residence here Prof. Dudley has proven himself a thoroughly capable school man, and his work has resulted in making the local school one of the best in the state.

His resignation is regarded as a distinct loss to the school and the removal of himself and family will prove a regrettable loss to the town. His new position carries with it a handsome increase in compensation, and on this account he did not feel that he could afford not to accept it.

He was re-elected to his position here and the school board was greatly disappointed that he could not accept it.

Big Loss Caused by Central City Fire.

Central City, Ky., June 3.—Fire that started at 1 o'clock this morning in the Gish frame block, situated on the south side of Broad street, between First street and the L. & N. railroad, threatened to wipe out the railroad district.

Buildings occupied by Messer & Woodruff and by Miller Bolus were owned by F. M. Gish, and were a total loss of about $8,000. Loss of Miller Bolus about $12,000, to Messer & Woodruff about $4,000, and to took their texts from the Kellner Case Sunday. Nearly $10,000 reward has been offered for the capture and conviction of the brutal murderer.

Telephones Will Succeed Electricity on Main Line of L. & N. R. R.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

LURE OF GOLD.

ANOTHER "camp" has spread its lure. Where in the shining summer sun. That on Alaska fiercely beats. The sands a golden current run. And men are straining purse and limb And doing deeds that shrink the soul To be the first to reach and roam. The harvest in this distant goal.

Not after learning do they strive, Nor after honor, place or fame. The treasures that enrich the mind And cast a lustre on the name. And even love they leave behind. Though it may shroud the soul. And turn their eyes and hearts and hands Toward barren lands and gloomy sands.

All human feelings sink and die. As when the sunbeams melt the snow. That at the end of strife and pain. And better, stern, stern glow. Their only goal is a shining goal. Their only end is a shining goal. For that they leave the home and hearth. And mountains tall and towering steep.

And many in the frenzied rush. Who on the ole have staked their all Will never reach the promised goal. Will follow by the way and fall. And victims of the yellow lure Will time the long and weary path. Food for the crows and for the fox. And victims of the gain god's wrath.

Engaged.

"You understand the running of an auto?"
"Perfectly."
"Know all about the mechanism?"
"Yes."
"What do you consider the most important thing?"
"To fade swiftly and silently away from the scene of an accident."

Discipline.

"When will this outrageous style of women's dresses that lution down the back go out?" inquired the agitated and indignant man.
"Never," replied his companion. "Woman has found a way to keep men humble by using him to unhook her and hook her up, and she isn't going to let go of that advantage."

Horrible.

"They say this house is haunted."
"You bet it is."
"Ghost of murdered woman, I suppose."
"Worse than that."
"What? Worse?"
"Yes."
"What can it be?"
"Bill collectors."

Good Hunt.

"He who fights and runs away—"
"Oh, I know a better one than that."
"You do?"
"You bet I do."
"What is it?"
"He who keeps away doesn't have to either fight or run."

Everything Costs More.

"Judge, I don't think I can pay as much alimony as that."
"Think it is too much?"
"I do."
"You know, all of the necessities of life have gone up."

Have the Interest.

"Do you think women make good barbers?"
"Sure."
"Why?"
"Their mind is on their work."

As Usual.

A miracle full soon will be. Pulled off before our startled view. For soon the peach crop will appear. That has been killed a time or two.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A bird on the hat is worth a dozen on the shop window.

Diplomacy may be defined as the guileful art of getting what you want while handing the other fellow a lemon.

A man isn't necessarily much of a heroism just because he has horse sense.

The reason why a man never forgets his first love is because the present love is always his first love.

An easy mark is an object that offers small resistance and yields rich returns.

The only way to keep a cook is to hedge her round with dollar bills.

What a boy doesn't know about love he reads in yellow covered literature.

The streak of yellow in a man's makeup isn't one of virgin gold.

A wife is a provision of Providence on behalf of man to keep him from making too much of a fool of himself.

There are two things necessary to make a man great. One is to be born great, and the other is to have some one discover and appreciate him.

The Chief Consideration

Coach—Now, ladies and gentlemen, if you will take your places we will rehearse the parts in the play. Miss Drew, please go to the left of right center.

Miss Drew—What do you call left of right center? Does it mean when you're looking at the audience, or when you're looking at the stage?

Coach—It means right next to the small table on your left. No, not there. Your left, I said. You left hand is the one that has the diamond ring on.

Miss Drew—Oh, do I have to take that off?

Coach—It isn't necessary. Now, miss Phillips—

Miss Phillips—I want to ask you, please, whether you think that I should wear pink or light blue?

The Coach—I don't see—

Miss Drew—I am going to wear pink and Mame has decided to have blue.

Miss Phillips—Then I suppose I shall have to dress in white. That means that I shall have to have a dress made for the performance for my old one possibly isn't fit to be seen anywhere. Would you have an oversight if you were I?

Mame—I am going to have mine made with a simulated overskirt and seven gorse. It is going to be lovely.

Miss Drew—I want a panel down the front, but really—

Coach—if you are ready, gentlemen, Mr. Hardy will stand at the other end of the table, waiting for his cue. There!

Hardy—Excuse me a minute, but talking about dress, am I supposed to wear a frock coat and high hat in the last scene with Miss Drew?

Coach—Certainly.

Hardy—Well, where the dickens shall I put my hat?

Coach—The maid, Miss Davis, takes it as you enter. If you—

Miss Davis—I'm in costume the regulation French one?

Coach—Evidently you have not looked at your part.

Miss Drew—You are to furnish the comely element, Miss Davis, and wear corset and a big apron. You have sleeves rolled up and flour on your arms.

Miss Davis—Oh, I don't believe I'll like that a bit. I want to dress up smartly, with bows on my apron.

Miss Harrison—I'll take that part, then, and you may have the part of the younger sister.

Miss Davis—What does she wear, if you please?

Miss Harrison—A ball gown. Not a blue one, because Mame has that color; not pink, because that's Miss Drew's; and not white, because that is Miss Phillips.

Miss Davis—And I can't wear yellow or green or lavender. I'll wear red.

Miss Drew—We have to sit on the davenport together and red will clash terribly with my pink.

Miss Davis—Then we'll have to sit somewhere else. I know just how I'll have it made. I'll be a dream! I'm glad I'm not to be a maid.

Hardy—The maid is the best part in the play and the younger sister isn't so for more than five minutes.

Coach—Now, if we're ready. Please begin. Mr. Lawrence, with your opening sentence: "We are all here waiting for the bride and groom."

Lawrence—Well, say, look here! I didn't know it was supposed to be a wedding. What do I wear? Evening suit?

Coach—Certainly.

Lawrence—Well, great Scott! I've got too stout for mine. Won't a tuxedo do just as well?

Hardy—I should say not. You're supposed to be an usher at the wedding of a millionaire.

Lawrence—That's easily fixed. Let's change the hour of the wedding and have it in the afternoon. Then we can all wear frock coats.

Miss Davis—Then we can't wear evening gowns. I don't think it would be nice a bit.

Coach—It would upset the whole plot. You will have to get a new dress suit, I'm afraid. Now, if you please, Miss Drew.

Miss Drew—Where do I stand?

Coach—No going to the stand at all. You sit on the floor of left of right center.

Miss Drew—Sit on the floor! In the gown!

Coach—You won't hurt your dress any, I assure you.

Lewis—I isn't half as bad as it is to you to have to come in with my head overcoat covered with flour to look like snow. I've a great mind to wear my old one.

Mame—I have to throw my hat down where it may be stepped on.

Coach—Now, if you please—

Miss Phillips—Oh, do we wear wraps? I'm going to come in wearing my new red cloak.

Coach—You are on the stage all the time and don't wear a coat.

Miss Phillips—Let's change it so that I can. It will be easy to do that.

Coach—We won't have the time. It's 11 now. That will be all tonight! I think. Don't forget the rehearsal Thursday, and please, look at your parts before you come.

Artist's Repartee.

"How are you getting along with your statue of War?" asked the landscape painter.

"I'm putting as bold a face on it as possible," answered the sculptor.

Housewifely Instinct.

She—The wind is rising.

She—Probably from the east.

Struck by Automobile.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 3.—Houston Morris, aged twelve years, son of Magistrate John M. Morris, was struck by an automobile today and seriously injured, both legs being broken and his head badly cut. The accident occurred at the gate of the Western Asylum for the Insane. The boy was coming out on a bicycle, and the car, driven by Robert Stowe, Jr., was starting in. In an effort to avoid a collision both turned sharply, but unfortunately in the same direction.

LORIMER IS ASKED TO QUIT SENATE

REPUBLICAN PAPER IN CHICAGO JOINS IN DEMAND FOR HIS RESIGNATION.

BRIBERY CASES REVIEWED

Declares Even the Proverbial Honor Among Thieves is Lacking in Illinois Legislative Scandal.

Chicago, June 7.—The Record-Herald (Republican), editorially asks on William Lorimer to resign his seat in the United States senate. The paper says:

"Illinois today is a byword and a laughing-thing throughout the nation. As the roll of confessing legislators increases and one scandal story after another is told of bribery and betrayal, of petty graft and grand graft, of hold-up bids and a general traffic in legislation, of greed as gross as that even the proverbial honor among thieves was lacking, defense of the public morality of the state seems impossible.

"But the confessions go straight to Senator Lorimer's election.

"The senator himself has not been accused of bribery, but, as the number of self-incriminated bribe-takers increases, the people are asking how many will be necessary to invalidate his election.

"The question that will haunt the senator day and night, if he is the victim of a syndicate in bribery—rather than of his own wrongdoings—is not how to save the official honor that has become dishonor, but how to demonstrate his personal honor for his own sake and that of his family.

"Everywhere there is the same thought which we may express in the words: 'Lorimer must resign.'

Lee O'Neill Browne, Democratic leader of the Illinois state legislature, has begun an onslaught on the senator charging him with paying Representative Charles A. White $10,000 to vote for United States Senator William Lorimer.

His petition attacks the right of Judge McCarey to jurisdiction in the matter.

One hundred special veniremen, under heavy guard, arrived in Judge McCarey's court ready for the trial.

AN UNUSUAL MAN

He paced nervously up and down before the double windows of a large military establishment for some time before he finally entered. Then he walked straight up to the saleswoman with the air of a man who had made up his mind.

"I want a hat," he said.

The saleswoman looked at him doubtfully.

"We are—keep only women's hats here," she said.

"Well, that's the kind I want," he replied.

The saleswoman passed at him helplessly. Two or three customers turned around and looked at him, too.

The girls on the trimmings counter giggled loudly.

The man was evidently painfully aware of these attentions.

"But he pulled himself together and said carefully: 'Let's look at some of the latest models.'

"Step this way, please," said the saleswoman, leading him out of range of the curious onlookers.

"What she hat would you like to see," "O, about 6 7 8, I guess," he said.

"No, no, you want a big hat, with considerable trimming or a plain one—you see, it depends a good deal on the woman who is going to wear it. Now, if you could bring her in—"

"Say," he interrupted, "this is a surprise party I'm pulling off today and I'm going to engineer the deal myself. I don't see anything difficult about buying a hat. You just put me wise to the 1910 rules and I'll place my money. Anybody that can make a woman more than three minutes buying a hat hasn't got head enough to wear one himself. Now, this one looks like a winner with the plumes on. Is the shape wise?"

"That is one of the sweetest things in the store," said the saleswoman, lifting the hat tenderly.

"It is in the extreme of fashion. It is, of course, a big hat. I guess—the lady—er—is she not—?"

"Well, I guess she's up to the weight, all right," returned the purchaser, holding the hat out at arm's length and balancing it on his head.

"I believe she can carry it. Are all these colors according to the revised rules?"

"Perfectly. Colors, of course, are always a matter of taste and harmony. Is your—the lady—a blonde or a brunette?"

The prospective purchaser appeared a little embarrassed for a moment, and then said frankly:

"Say, it's this way. I haven't just made up my mind which one—that is, I'm not sure just which I'll send it. You see, I thought I'd buy a hat for one and a fur muff, maybe, or something like that, for my other. That is, you see, there's two I want to buy presents for, and—O, well, which would this hat go the best with, Amber Top or Beaux?"

"Why, I think, perhaps, a blonde could wear it to the best advantage," answered the saleswoman, looking knowing.

"All right, it's the hat for little Sunflower. How about the size of the hole in the crown? Won't it be like she could get her head and all her hair in that opening?"

"O, her hair don't all go in there, you know," said the saleswoman reassuringly.

"Well, where does it go, then?" he demanded, looking suspiciously at the small opening in the center of the immense brim.

"Why, it puffs up under the brim, you know. The more hair the better for a hat like this."

"Cradle it up, I'll take it. I'll have an express wagon come round and get it. What's the final?"

The price was $18.50. He paid it and glanced at his watch.

"Five minutes before lunch time," said the saleswoman.

"That's all right," he said, and he hurried away.

The swans which gracefully glide over the many picturesque river stretches and artificial lakes in England are commonly regarded as harmless birds, much beloved by young and old, and fed and fondled as things embodying the poetic spirit of snow-white grace and beauty.

Washington, June 2.—Senator Cullom introduced into the senate a copy of charges against Senator Lorimer, forwarded to him by the Legislative Voters' League of Chicago. The charges will not be made public until the committee on privileges and elections which will have them in keeping, sees fit.

It is known that the league, among other documents, has forwarded a copy of the indictment against Lorimer. There is a sworn statement that money was used in the interest of Lorimer's election, but it is not charged that he knave of Lorimer. The senate is asked to make a complete investigation.

Haskins never did care for Selmore and after being introduced, had cheerfully asked for a lift to his destination, and got it, occupying the entire time of transit in conversation with Selmore, as though Haskins were a hired chauffeur.

A week later, when Haskins called on Selmore and found Selmore there, he learned through the conversation that Selmore had accidentally met her in a candy shop and had promptly asked to call. And he kept on calling.

Haskins tried to convince himself that it had been just a coincidence on earth than Selmore, he should not have cared. It was simply, he told himself, because he disliked Selmore.

At Selmore's death he had a right to have as many callers as she chose, inasmuch as she was not engaged to him. It was the first time the idea had occurred to him.

He presented itself to him, and he thought about it a great deal after the ride. He thought Selmore persisted in interfering with his established routine.

He was especially upset one evening when he had been engaged to meet her on the telephone to take Alice automobile, he called, only to find that Selmore had just arrived.

The ride progressed in an electric silence on Haskins' part and with firm conversation on Selmore's.

They had the spin and the supper, which Selmore had to eat in the car, and they started home on a downtown street corner the machine wheeled and stopped. Haskins took malicious delight in looking at Selmore.

And help him back it off the car tracks. Then he investigated irritably, for accidents were alien to his character.

As he delved amid the machinery Selmore sat aloof, amiably talking to him. When Haskins had to crawl under the machine and lie flat on his back while he pounded the mechanism he knew how anarchistic he was.

"Here, Haskins," Selmore called down finally, "can't you fix it? Shouldn't you think you'd know your own car better?"

"It's getting terribly late," said Alice.

As Haskins plodded away to a telephone booth, he thought of Selmore and finding he could get no help, Haskins phoned his home garage and told them to bring the two in his car.

"They're sending a tow after me," he said. "You two can just catch the subway train if you hurry. It will relieve my mind if you'll take me so I'll know Miss Clark will get safely home."

"Spontidee idee!" agreed Selmore, and leaped out. He reached up a helping hand to the girl in the back seat.

Maybe she had had too much of Selmore, maybe she felt sorry for Haskins, maybe—

At any rate she never moved. She regarded Selmore coolly.

"I am not going to desert the car and let Mr. Haskins wait here all night," she said. "You hurry along and catch the train, Mr. Selmore! I shall wait and be towed in with Mr. Haskins!"

So Selmore had to go. As Haskins watched him vanish around the corner he was conscious that a great joy percolated throughout his system. He climbed out of the driver's seat and he bided Alice.

"That's a fine fate!" he breathed. "Now maybe while we're waiting I can have a chance to say a few things to you that I've been wanting to say!"

Left it to the Boys.

Cheering for ancient Greeks, who never had bald heads, or ought never to have had them, the boy students of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware made a bonfire of their hats the other night.

Dancing around the fire they swore never to imperil the hair of their heads again. The girl students applauded the proceedings from a safe distance, refused to join in the sacrifice. Burn their new spring hats! Well, hardly.

Mrs. Golightly's Lesson

"Now, dear, I'll teach you how to play chess," said Mrs. Golightly, as she settled herself for the evening. "Get the board and men, and you may bring my pipe, too."

"It's so nice of you to be willing to show me—"

"Of course, my dear, you know it is a man's game—it really brings brains to play a good game of chess. I hope you can master it enough to make a game interesting to me some time."

"Yes, dear," answered his wife, meekly.

"Now, Mrs. Golightly, you can't play chess with the board at an angle of 45 degrees."

"Degrees of what?"

"Fahrenheit. Get a higher chair and put your mind on the game—"

"Like this rocker; it's comfortable."

"It's against all rules of chess to keep jiggling."

"I'll put a book on my lap. I've been studying the rules, but I didn't see anything about jiggling."

"Here the book slipped and the board was only saved by the quick action of Mr. Golightly."

"If you think this a 'shoot the chutes,' you are mistaken," he said, severely. "My idea is to teach you chess—if possible."

"I'll get a higher chair," she said, assuming the expression of an early Christian martyr. "I heard how to teach the men out of the book, only I want to play with the white ones, 'cause I've been practicing with them."

"What has the color to do with the game? Now I move—so."

Perfect silence for a few minutes.

"It's your move, dear," said Mrs. Golightly.

"Don't I know it? A man has to stop to think; he doesn't play any old thing. This isn't his way."

"Then why do you put your castle where I can take it?"

"Because I was trying to show you the game, and I have to talk so much—"

"I thought you said it required silence!"

"It does, unless you are playing with a woman." Here Golightly started to go to her men.

"Oh, wait, I haven't taken my fingers away. I don't think I'll move it here. I move it here and check your king."

"Very nice, only you can't jump across the board that way. Check your queen."

"Too bad. I must take your queen. I guess you didn't see my bishop. Do you want me to take it back?"

"I don't play the baby act. If I hadn't been talking to you I should not have moved there."

"Mrs. Golightly swept the queen from the board, and left two men in jeopardy."

"Ahem! I was watching your side—"

"I should think you'd watch your side. I do. It isn't your move."

"Yes, it is."

"No, you moved, and I took your queen and then you—"

"Don't get excited. Keep your temper—if you can. You make more fuss than you would buying a new bonnet," snarled Mrs. Golightly.

"I think I am playing well enough to beat you just the same."

"Certainly when I have to work for me both. You may be able to beat a donkey."

"That's what I said," grinned Mrs. Golightly. "Oh!" she shrieked, plunging through an unguarded space. "I'm going to take your king!"

"Put that man down," yelled Golightly. "You can't take a king. You don't understand the first rudiments of the game—after all my teaching—"

"But he is so he can't move."

"That would be checkmate—only I can move here."

"No you can't. My man guards that!"

"Well, if you can't play a simple game of chess without yelling like a Comanche—"

"What's a Comanche? Anyway, you can't move."

And Golightly looked what he wanted to say.

Wife's Confidential Way.

Little Wes had been brought up to be polite, and not to interrupt what there was company unless it was very important. He always remembered this and kept very quiet. One day there were visitors who talked and stayed and stayed, until poor little Wes was tired. He wished them to go, but not for anything would he let them see his face.

All of a sudden he thought of a nice plan that his mother and father knew when he was too little to spell and write. They did not want to hurt his feelings, so in a little pause in the ladies' talk, Wes said, in the prettiest way: "Mother, please can't we be alone?"

And all the visitors laughed and kissed him goodby, and gave him his good mother all to himself—YOUTH'S Companion.

The Hat and Royalty.

The hat plays a considerable part in civilization as a sign and a symbol, quite apart from its purpose as a shelter against the weather. In the Mother of Parliaments, the etiquette regarding it is so elaborate that new members frequently find themselves involved in difficulties. There are two peers who to this day possess the right of remaining covered in the presence of royalty, if they care to exercise it. And the king always sits on his field marshal's hat before he reads the speech to the assembled lords and commons.—London Chronicle.

A GOOD WOMAN GONE

Mrs. M. E. Hodge Passes Away at the Residence of Her Daughter.

Mrs. M. E. Hodge, widow of Billie Hodge, died Tuesday night, at 10:30 o'clock, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Kinney Carroll, of organic heart trouble. She has been a sufferer for a number of years, growing gradually worse lately and her death was not unexpected. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jas. West, of Sacramento, three daughters and one son, Mrs. Geo. Adcock, of Webster county, Mrs. Val Vincent, of Brownsville, Muhlenberg county, and Mrs. Kinney Carroll, and Mr. Thos. Hodge, of this place.

Mrs. Hodge was a good woman and loved by all who knew her. She was born near Louisville, Ky., in the year 1837, being 73 years old at the time of her death. She came to Earlinton in the year 1888, and has been a resident of this place most all the time since. Her remains were laid to rest in the cemetery here at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Clark. THE BEE extends sympathy to the sister and children in the hour of their bereavement.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the citizens for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our sister and mother, Mrs. M. E. Hodge.

Mrs. JAS. WEST.

Philosophy.

There are some people—and I am one of them—who think that the most practical and important thing about a man is still his view of the universe. We think that for a landlady considering a lodger, it is important to know his income, but still more important to know his philosophy. We think that for a general about to fight an enemy, it is important to know the enemy's number, but still more important to know the enemy's philosophy.—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

To a Chemist.

"I want you to prepare for me a formula for making the best pumpkin pie that can be made," said the pie manufacturer to the chemist. "We used turpentine and ochre and potato flour and all the things my rivals use, and have beaten them a little bit at their own game, but now I want to put out a pumpkin pie that will simply outclass all other brands. I will pay you whatever fee is right for the work."—Life.

Knew What She Wanted.

Customer—"My wife told me to stop in and buy her a bathing suit. What are your prices and sizes?" Dealer—"We have a very nice one here that I'm sure she will like. A fifty-dollar suit will just cover it." Customer—"That is just about the size she wants. How much is it?"—Springfield Union.

Unique System of Voting.

In Belgium and in Holland a black square with a white spot in its center is printed opposite the name of each candidate. The elector votes by blackening out as many of the white spots on his paper as he is entitled to; he folds it and drops it into the box.

Less Exacting Circumstances.

"I wonder how George Washington managed to get through life without uttering a single falsehood?" "Oh, conditions were easier in his day. The public did not expect a constant flow of epigrams from its celebrities."

Distinctions.

"Do you think that current literature is a dignified and desirable profession?" "It depends," replied Miss Cayenne, "on whether you are a penny-a-liner or a dollar-a-worder."—Washington Star.

Proper Estimate of Values.

"Life is spoiled because we fail to estimate values. We think too much of trifles. The sick woman toils away until death comes peacefully, she thought darning socks was more important to her children than her own life."

Popping Corn and a Question

"Ah!" said Mr. Luckey, advancing into the room. "A wood fire!"

"Yes," smiled Miss Doty, looking up. "Isn't it nice?"

"Fine!" exclaimed Mr. Luckey, sitting on the edge of a chair. "Fine!"

"It always looks so—so—began Miss Doty.

"No cheerful!" cried Mr. Luckey.

"No, I didn't mean that; but so—"

"So warm!" cried Mr. Luckey.

"No, not warm exactly, but so—"

"So homelike!" he asked.

"Yes," she softly answered, making eyes at him, and she sank on a hassock by the side of the fire, although in any contemplation of this scene as a homelike spectacle, she was going to be in the picture.

"Hark! you are open, fireplace in your room," she asked, striving to present to his mind the antithesis of his present state of momentary happiness.

"No," he murmured; "no such luck." "Poor boy!" she whispered to the fire.

"Poor boy!" he repeated mournfully.

"Draw up your chair a little nearer," she kindly said to him. "There, isn't that comfortable?"

"Fine!" said Mr. Luckey. "Fine!" Did you ever see anything like this way it rained today?

She frowned slightly and was apparently about to change the subject, but thought better of it at the last moment.

"I hope it won't rain tonight," she said.

"So do I," said he.

"I always feel so sorry when you have to leave in the rain."

"So do I," said he.

She made eyes at him again, sighed at the silence more in sorrow than in anger and all at once looked brisk and excited.

"Gracious!" she cried, "I nearly forgot!"

"Forgot what?" he asked.

"I've got a corn popper and a lot of corn. Shall we make some popcorn?"

"Yes!" he cried. "That would be lots of fun."

She ran out into the kitchen and took the corn popper from a hook.

"Where's the corn, Sarah?" she asked the cook.

"I tell you the corn won't pop!" exclaimed the cook. "I told you once and I tell you again, that for corn ain't the kind to pop."

She took the corn nevertheless and went back into the parlor.

"They," she said, "you put the corn in the popper like this, and then you hold it over the fire. If you'll move over a little in that chair—"

He moved over silently and she sat down beside him. It was one of those large, comfortable, turkish rockers with high arms and back, just right for two, and as she leaned over to pop the corn the cosy light of the fire played on her face and showed just where her dimples were.

She shook the popper with a vigorous arm; he moved over to give her more elbow room.

"It doesn't pop," she pouted.

They watched the corn carefully, both leaning forward, with their heads very close together.

"You hold it," she said; but as he took the handle she cried, "Wait!" and seized the popper again, unconsciously placing her hand over his.

"I thought I saw one pop then!" she cried.

"No," he said, taking it. "I don't see any."

She took the popper from him and holding it over the fire she fell to shaking it again, crying:

"Pop! Pop! Hang you, pop! Don't you see I'm waiting for you to pop? Pop! pop! pop! I tell you! I never saw anything so slow in all my life! What's the matter with you anyway? Don't you know how to pop? Good grief! Pop! pop! Isn't there any pop in you? Pop! pop! pop! I tell you! POP!"

And as she shook the handle, oh, ever so vigorously, a hand was bashed fully placed over hers, an arm was timidly placed about her waist—and Mr. Luckey popped.

Sad End to Boyish Prank.

A number of April fool stunts which Harry Edwards and his younger brother, Fred, played in the attic of their home at Arlington, N. J., resulted in the death of Harry. The two brothers were going to an April fools' party, but before they left they went up to the attic of the house. Fred left his brother for a few minutes to get something downstairs. When he returned he discovered Harry hanging from a rafter. He called to him but received no answer. Around his neck was a thin leather strap, such as the boys use for their school books. Fred cut this and his brother dropped to the floor dead. The only explanation the police could get was that Harry probably wanted to fool his brother and make him believe that he had hanged himself. He stood up on a couch and may have slipped off accidentally.

Mr. Ades in Europe.

Second Assistant Secretary Ades of the State department is on his usual vacation in Europe. In company with Mr. Thacker, United States consul general at Berlin, and Mrs. Thacker, he will devote about six weeks to a bicycle tour of southern France. He expects to return to Washington about the middle of June.

Settlement of Britain.

It is quite generally held by students of the ethnic migrations across Europe that the Irish are of a race older than the British, but that they settled in Britain first and then moved on to Ireland under the impulse of later swarms behind them. The settlement of Scotland is similarly explained as a crowding of the same race to the northward, upon which was later overlaid a backward migration from the north of Ireland to the nearest point of Scotland.

A Minute Lamp.

Physicians occasionally use, for the purpose of illuminating parts of the interior of the body, a delicate electric lamp, called the "pea lamp," because its little glass bulb resembles a small pea in size, being only one-quarter of an inch in diameter. It is, nevertheless, a complete incandescent lamp, having a carbon film one-eighth of an inch long and about one two-hundredths of an inch in diameter.

Isn't it strange what badness will lead a man to do? There is some sense in the action of that minister who resigned because he lost his hat and thereby cleared the way for a succession of colds, but imagine the wonderful possibilities in the thick tank of that man who had a splicer's web tattooed on a dome that was as smooth as a tin roof!

Frauds.

Some frauds succeed from the apparent candor, the open confidence, and the full blaze of ingenuously that is thrown around them. The slightest mystery would excite suspicion and ruin all. ## So Look Out.

Just because the sentimental girl looks rapturously up at her lover and calls him "My king!" during their engagement, he must be surprised if she expects him to bring the ashes, and wipe the dishes, and sniff the coal, after they are married.

ROAD BLOCK TO CONFERENCE

PASSAGE OF TAFT'S PET MEASURE BY SENATE IS NOT FINAL ACTION.

MORE BREAKERS AHEAD

Many Points of Difference in House and Senate Bills Pressed Fight—The Measure is Much Mutilated.

Washington, June 6.—"A step forward" is the explanation made by many senators of their action in voting for the senate railroad bill. That is the reason close contention on many important points was followed by the overwhelming vote of 50 to 12 in favor of the bill when it was passed. It was a case of taking it or nothing, and the dissatisfied ones decided to accept the bill for the good it contained and to hope for the day when the objectionable features might be eliminated by amending the new law.

The creation of a court of commerce which is to develop entirely to the consideration of cases growing out of the interstate commerce law will be the hardest to swallow by progressive senators. Against the court there was urged the claim of lack of necessity; that, if it had been in existence during the last three years it would have been called upon for the trial of only 23 cases; that its creation would be an unconstitutional act; that it was unwise to place such tremendous interests as are involved in the transportation business under the jurisdiction in such a small body of men; that in time, by their influence, they would be able to get on men on the bench of the court, and that its creation was a useless expense.

Features Repealed.

The features most favorable to railroads were eliminated before the final vote was reached. These provided for the repeal of the anti-Sherman anti-trust act to the extent of permitting railroads to enter into agreements as to rates; for the removal of railroads and for the alleged control by the interstate commerce commission of the issue of railroad securities. The latter, said Senator La Follette, was a provision in the bill which was added to the railroads six different ways of issuing watered stock. There are a number of provisions in the senate and house bills that are identical in terms and these can not be altered by the conference committee.

Expert statements have said some of these will have a beneficial effect in keeping freight rates within bounds, but for the most part they are clear only to people skilled in the transportation problem.

A claim for the benefit is offered by a provision in each bill permitting railroads to issue passes to the families of persons who are killed by trains.

Water Traffic Protected.

If a railroad lowers rates to kill competition by water it can never raise those rates without the consent of the interstate commerce commission.

The commerce court is in both bills.

Shippers may be represented in the commerce court on appeals from decisions of the interstate commerce commission, a right denied them by the bill in its original form.

Railroads are prohibited from charging more for a through rate than for the aggregate of the local rates.

A heavy penalty is provided for railroad employers who give false information to shippers who ask for rates.

A shipper, in case there are competitive routes, may dictate the route over which his goods shall be carried.

To Perpetuate Reverend Memory.

New York, June 3.—Twenty thousand dollars to be used in founding the Reverend family memorial fund at Harvard university is set aside by the will of Augustus L. Revere, a great-grandson of Paul Revere of revolutionary fame. The fund has just been probated at Morristown, N. J., and disposes of an estate valued at $150,000.

Demands $75,000 of Bankers.

New York, June 3.—After sending an 1100-word telegram to J. P. Morgan, New York, threatening to crucify members of the firm unless they paid him $75,000, Charles P. Rossman, formerly cashier of the banking house, was arrested at Harmony, seven miles from Lakewood, N. J. He is held pending an inquiry on his sanity.

Fire Destroys British Steamer.

Bombay, June 3.—After facing death for days on a floating inferno the crew of the British steamer Trafalgar was landed here. The vessel was abandoned after all efforts to quell the fire in the cargo of coal had failed. The Trafalgar, owned by Glasgow & Co. of Glasgow, was built in 1901 at 2,200 tons. She was 380 feet long.

St. Paul Is Double-Tracking.

ORDERED TO SHOOT FATHER, ENDS LIFE

Young Turkish Soldier Hanged Himself in Cell, Awaiting His Punishment, Commander Plans Ordeal.

Berlin, June 4.—While awaiting punishment in the Turkish prison for refusing to take part in the execution of his own father by a firing squad, a Turkish soldier named Affa hanged himself in his cell. The soldier's father, Affa Bey, was a prominent Albanian magnate who joined the revolution. He was taken to prison by a detachment of soldiers in which his son was serving as a private.

Affa Bey was sentenced to death and Maj. Risa Mirsa Bey, in command of the Turkish detachment, sought to add a more tragic note to the execution by placing the condemned man's son in the firing squad.

The young man pleaded to be executed from such a terrible ordeal, but the commanding officer was obdurate. When the word was given to fire the son raised his rifle and fired into the air. Maj. Risa Mirsa Bey immediately placed him in prison.

St. Louis, June 4.—Former Governor Joseph W. G. Foster, whom his friends are booming for the Democratic nomination for president in 1912, probably received a greater ovation from the Missouri Democratic league at the Folk-for-president banquet at the Southern hotel than was ever accorded him in his campaigns throughout the state.

More than 500 members of the league from practically every county in Missouri were present. One man, headed by Chairman Lou Sanders of St. Louis, and the meeting was presided over by W. D. Vandiver, former

It is probable that the meeting will result in the permanent organization of the league in the interest of Folk for president.

ANARCHY FOUND IN JAPAN

Plot to Kill Marquis Katsura and Others Suppressed in Newspapers.

Tokyo, June 4.—A great anarchistic plot against the government has been discovered. Its ramifications are so extensive and the interests involved are so enormous that the newspapers have been forbidden to publish the details.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Earlington People Receiving the Full Benefit

There have been many cases like the following in Earlington. Every one relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much to relieve the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. R. A. Smith, Wilson St., Earlington, Ky., says: "I am glad to publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were badly disordered and the pains in my back were so acute that I could not stoop without suffering severely. The pain often extended into my sides and became more severe if I stood for awhile. I had dizzy spells and many times was forced to grasp something in order to steady myself. I also suffered from terrible headaches and many days could scarcely get out of bed. I can safely say that I spent more than one hundred dollars for medicines and doctors' treatments, but I obtained scarcely any benefit. On the advice of a friend, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at the St. Bernard Drug Store, and began their use. This remedy cured me in less than two weeks."

FIFTY ARE KILLED BY QUAKE IN SOUTH ITALY

NUMBER OF INJURED ESTIMATED AT SEVERAL HUNDRED.

Five Towns Suffer Heavily in Cyclone—King and Queen Cheered as They Depart for Rome.

Rome, June 8.—Great apprehension has been caused among the officials reporting that the zone affected by the earthquake shocks is a vast one, embracing practically the whole of southern Italy, as well as a portion of Tuscany and Venetia to the north. But the district where serious damage occurred, only extends about 50 miles around Mount Vulture, which is an extinct volcano, near the town of Castellone, in the province of Avellino.

The number of casualties resulting from the earthquake has not yet been ascertained. Some reports estimate the dead at fifty and the injured at several hundred.

It is feared there are many buried in the ruins of houses which were thrown down in Calabria, while great damage was done at other places, with doubtless considerable loss of life.

The king left immediately for the district. He intended to go alone, but Queen Helena insisted upon joining him.

The king and queen were cheered by the crowds at the station, but they hurried to the train and carefully inspected the medical and other supplies.

Misfortune seems to have chosen Italy as a target. While the south has been afflicted by an earthquake, the coast region of Calabria, the largest island in the Mediterranean near Sicily, was ravaged by a violent cyclone.

The towns of Lamezia, Tortona, Rinaldi and Jerzu have been devastated and the crops, vineyards and cattle destroyed.

BEER TAX CALLED UNWISE

Brewers in Convention Say Increased Price Drives Men to Stronger Drink and Intemperance.

Washington, June 8.—Brewers representing 90 per cent of that business in the country are assembled in Washington to attend the fifth annual convention of the United States Brewers' Association. President Carl Hoyer delivered his annual address today and Representative Boutwell made one of the principal speeches.

It is expected that the convention will adopt resolutions protesting against the "unwise taxation of beer," which the brewers say increases the price of the beverage, leading men to stronger drink and intemperance.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—Hundreds of local optionists from all sections of the state are here to attend the state convention and rally. The resolutions adopted demand the enactment of laws making the county the unit instead of the township as it is at present.

Banker to Serve Five-Year Term.

Cleveland, June 8.—The state supreme court decided that U. G. Walker, president of the defunct South Cleveland Banking company, must serve his five-year sentence for perjury. Walker was found guilty of aiding of perjury in swearing to false statements as the bank's condition.

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said: 'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think the oil stove is wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was something about it, and that it was a new kind of stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give mine up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more chopping the dinner table as tired as you can't get the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up the chimney, and you get the heat. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no noise, no fumes, no druggery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.
